This year with an explosive offense and the "hardest hitting" defense in the state, we had something else to yell about besides splinters in the bleachers. These conditioned athletes found themselves ranked as "1" for two weeks in a row before the ball started bouncing in the wrong direction. But all was not lost, for they earned themselves an eternal spot in the hearts of the Pep-Clubbers.

Cross country was not only a means for developing the lungs, but it gave one first-hand knowledge of what it really means to get the run-around. This year was a big step forward for a team that is constantly striding for greater athletic feats.

Swimming

Trying hard to keep their heads above water, the swim team worked out every day in preparation for competition. Each individual member practiced his own talents which ranged from diving, to learning to breathe without noseplugs. As a result of their efforts, they were once again successful. These young men never suffered from being "wet behind the ears."

This year, with depth, a feared press and more quickness than anyone in the state, scoring over the century mark became commonplace. At the tournament, Highland was nearly everyone's favorite with chants of "Rams take State" even coming from neighbor rivals. Unfortunately, one of only two bad quarters for the entire year brought disappointment in the "dream game" with Provo. The team, however, ended the year in style by taking third and nearly breaking a scoring record in the process.

In wrestling, one has to utilize not only strength, but quickness and physical conditioning to pin his opponent or get the decision. This year's grapplers learned a lot from the season's competition, including a few nifty holds to practice in the hallways on their girl friends.

The quick fielding and strong throwing arms of our team were enough to drive the other teams batty. With better than average averages and diamond-like precision, they were outstanding in their field and a real hit — even with the Pep Club.

This year, of course, the golf team performed the way they have in the past, which, incidently, is a pretty fair way to play. Even when the chips were down and the playing got rough, they came out on top.

Our ski team found their season a little longer than expected with late spring snowfalls. Even though the roads may have been threatening, they were quite content as long as the slopes remained powdered.

Intramurals

For those not on any athletic teams, intramurals provided the chance for one to impress coaches and girl friends with hidden talent. The wide spectrum of activities allowed many to display these talents and also, unfortunately, other aspects of the athletes via torn shorts.

The soccer team wanted to get their kicks out of high school, but they didn't expect them in the form of bruised shins. However, with a high scoring offense, a stingy defense and the goal of taking state in mind, they suffered through the pains to enjoy another successful season.

Bowling Teams

The bowling teams, in refusing to be pinned down by studies, escaped now and then to roll a few games at the lanes. They would never hesitate to spare a little time in order to strike up some excitement.

Girls' Athletics

With the field of girls' athletics constantly expanding, there were enough activities to please nearly everyone. These girls were out to prove the male chauvinists wrong and sometimes did.
